Hive13, Cincinnati's makerspace, is hosting an open house to celebrate our third anniversary. Located at 2929 Spring Grove Avenue in the Anchor Building in Camp Washington, Hive13 aims to create a place where a diverse community of makers can collaborate and pursue creative projects. Visit www.hive13.org for more information.

Come and explore our 3500 square feet of project space. Soldering, resin casting, 3D printing, laser cutting, and lock picking are just some of the cool things being demonstrated. Members will have some of their projects on display. There will also be tours of the hackerspace showing off all the tools we have to offer.
